

What is Neuro Resource Facilitation?

Facilitator, a planner, a resource, a partner, a teammate, and an advocate.

Neuro-Resource Facilitators provide personalized service coordination including:

- Completing initial screening and application for services to meet current needs
- Ensuring continuation of services and funding (e.g., annual review for Medicaid, 3 Squares etc.)
- Facilitating plan management for Person-Centered Plans/Personal Care Plans
- Fostering personal relationships and community connections
- Encouraging self-advocacy and self-expression development
- Enhancing Independence and skill-building development
- Arranging mentorship opportunities
- Encouraging natural supports
- Sourcing employment support and opportunities
- Arranging volunteer opportunities and activities
- Identifying and obtaining medical equipment and assistive technologies
- At participants' request, act as a Representative Payee and provide financial and budget management support.
- Identifying and establishing resources for treatment including:
 - Primary Care and Specialist Care
 - Dental Care
 - Nutrition Services
 - Mental Health Services
 - Substance Use Treatment Services
 - Occupational, Physical and Speech Therapy
 - Working with other established team members e.g., Probation/Parole, VCCI Nurse, Vocational Rehabilitation etc.

This sounds like targeted case management- How is it different?

- Provides brain injury specific education.
 - Symptoms experienced and how it impacts daily function.
 - Strategies for symptom management and daily function.
- Proactive navigation to community-based supports, resources and services.
 - Individuals with brain injury often struggle with executive function challenges related to being able to plan, organize and process information.
- Remove instrumental barriers (e.g., housing) as well as brain injury specific barriers (e.g., memory/cognitive challenges) to successful community re-integration and return to work.